Technophobia! - Daniel Dinello 2013-08-26

Techno-heaven or techno-hell? If you believe many scientists working in the emerging fields of twenty-first-century technology, the future is blissfully bright. Initially, human bodies will be perfected through genetic manipulation and the fusion of human and machine; later, human beings will completely shed the shackles of pain, disease, and even death, as human minds are downloaded into death-free robots whereby they can live forever in a heavenly "posthuman" existence. In this techno-utopian future, humanity will be saved by the godlike power of technology. If you believe the authors of science fiction, however, posthuman evolution marks the beginning of the end of human freedom, values, and identity. Our dark future will be dominated by mad scientists, rampaging robots, killer clones, and uncontrollable viruses. In this timely new book, Daniel Dinello examines "the dramatic conflict between the techno-utopia promised by real-world scientists and the techno-dystopia predicted by science fiction." Organized into chapters devoted to robotics, bionics, artificial intelligence, virtual reality, biotechnology, nanotechnology, and other significant scientific advancements, this book summarizes the current state of each technology, while presenting corresponding reactions in science fiction. Dinello draws on a rich range of material, including films, television, books, and computer games, and argues that science fiction functions as a valuable corrective to technological domination, countering techno-hype and reflecting the "weaponized, religiously rationalized, profit-fueled" motives of such science. By imaging a disastrous future of posthuman techno-totalitarianism, science fiction encourages us to construct ways to contain new technology, and asks its audience perhaps the most important question of the twenty-first century: is technology out of control?

Trained to Submit - Powerone 2017-09-15
Awarded Five Cups! The Highest Rating! That's how Coffee Time Review raves over the award-winning erotica of Powerone. In Taught to Submit - Powerone's most insightful and probing novel yet - Lisa and her twin daughters are grounded on the small island of Bocus Del Toro in Panama, when their plane suffers a mechanical failure. It's a different culture where the men are still the Masters and the women submit, where girls are taught the pleasures of sex by older men, where three beautiful blonde American females stand out among the dark-haired local girls. Forced to submit to the island's most powerful men to survive, Lisa and her daughters earn their way with their bodies, submitting themselves to virtual sexual slavery to survive, only to, as Coffee Time Romance puts it, discover "the confidence and maturity hidden dormant within themselves." Reviewer Mila Bean warns that while Powerone's work is "not intended for those faint of heart [and] the depictions are quite vivid and may make some readers uncomfortable--the pacing is perfect, the story is amazing, and the erotica not only appropriate for the theme of the story but very arousing. The BDSM delves deep into the [characters'] psyches. I was not only impressed with the author's thorough knowledge of BDSM but the amazing imagery and heart-pounding erotica. Outstanding!" Powerone is a Literotica.com award winning author.

A long-time victim of domestic violence and neglect, Skylar is broken and abandoned in the middle of nowhere after her ex-boyfriend viciously abuses her. Believing that her life is over, the young woman surrenders to her fate, finally accepting that she had lived in a world that had never wanted or accepted her. Her injuries leave her helpless to question the unexplained appearance of two enormous and incredibly handsome men who return her to an unusual vehicle and begin to nurse her back to health. It doesn't take long before she concludes that the bizarre place, unfamiliar technology, and the strangers' odd habits are not of Earth. Her twin rescuers are fascinated by her physical appearance and proceed to learn all that they can about the 'workings' of the human female. Using manuals that sound suspiciously like the books written by her favorite erotic authors, they learn how to properly raise and care for their new little pet. Instructed to refer to them as 'Daddy' and 'Papa,' Skylar is ordered to behave like a good girl and follow their instructions for her well-being. Stubbornness and a natural rebellious streak land the young lady in hot water with her two unexpected guardians. Not only do they abide by the necessity of administering sound spankings to her bare-bottom as suggested by the 'manuals' but they also adopt other methods of creative discipline that focus on her derriere! Oddly enough, Skylar is happier than she has ever been, yet she still struggles with the fear that comes with the past years of abuse. The handsome aliens give her everything she could ever desire—a home, food, clothing, wild and unbelievable, satisfying sex—but are they capable of giving her the love that she longs for in the deepest part of her soul? Life with her alien guardians also leaves her in an emotional conundrum—does she accept their offer to stay with them in a world that has done away with the human influence eons ago or does she return to a world that has nothing to offer her, including life?
